- Age: 29

- Gender: Female

- Location: Urban area (e.g., New York City)

- Occupation: Marketing Specialist

- Education: Bachelor's Degree in Communications

- Income Level: $70,000/year

Background:

- Sarah is a digital native who grew up with technology and is comfortable using various streaming services. She values convenience and often watches shows on her laptop or smart TV.

Interests:

- Enjoys binge-watching dramas and thrillers.
- Interested in true crime documentaries and romantic comedies.
- Follows pop culture and often engages with social media about shows.

Viewing Habits:

- Watches content mostly in the evenings and on weekends.
- Prefers to binge entire seasons of shows rather than watching weekly episodes.
- Often explores new content based on recommendations from friends and trending lists.

Goals:

- To find quality content that entertains and sometimes educates.
- To discover new shows and movies based on personal interests.
- To use Netflix as a way to unwind after work and stay current with popular media.

Pain Points:

- Frustrated by the overwhelming amount of content, making it hard to choose what to watch.
- Dislikes when shows get cancelled abruptly, leaving stories unfinished.
- Sometimes feels like the algorithm doesn't accurately reflect her tastes.

Tech Savvy:

- Uses mobile devices for browsing and accessing Netflix.
- Engages with features like "My List" to save content.
- Active on social media platforms, often discussing shows and seeking recommendations.

Favourite Features:

- Personalized Recommendations: Enjoys tailored suggestions based on viewing history.
- Profiles: Uses separate profiles for different family members to customize viewing experiences.
- Download Options: Appreciates being able to download shows for offline viewing during commutes or travel.

Summary

Sarah represents a segment of Netflix's audience that is tech-savvy, values convenience, and seeks both entertainment and connection through shared viewing experiences. Understanding users like Sarah can help Netflix enhance its recommendations, improve user experience, and tailor content offerings.
